Drive Hammered Get Nailed

X52 EXTRA PATROLS EVERY WEEK

Over 100 state and local law enforcement agencies are working together to make Washington's roads safer. Extra patrols are being conducted every week to arrest drivers who are under the influence of alcohol or drugs in order to save lives.

Drunk and drugged driving kills 250 people each year in Washington. Law enforcement officers arrest more than 40,000 drivers for DUI each year in Washington.

One in three Americans will be affected by this violent crime in their lifetimes. You, your family, your friends could be next.

A DUI arrest in Washington means license suspension, jail time, and up to $5,000 in fines and fees. You may be ordered to install and pay for a device (called an ignition interlock) that won't allow your car to start if you have any alcohol in your system. The court can order you to pay for and attend alcohol or drug treatment.

If you drink, plan ahead. Use a designated driver or public transit. Call a taxi or a friend. Spend the night. Sober is the only safe way to drive.

If you or a loved one has a problem with alcohol or drugs, help is available. Call the Alcohol/Drug Help Line at 1-800-562-1240 or the Teen Alcohol/Drug Help Line at 1-877-345-8336. The 24-hour help line provides confidential, individual guidance, crisis intervention techniques, and referral services.
